WHERE THE SIDE WALK ENDS

There is a place where the sidewalk ends
And before the street begins,
And there the grass grows soft and white,
And there the sun burns crimson bright,
And there the moon-bird rests from his flight
To cool in the peppermint wind.

Let us leave this place where the smoke blows black And the dark street winds and bends. Past the pits where the asphalt flowers grow We shall walk with a walk that is measured and slow, And watch where the chalk-white arrows go To the place where the sidewalk ends.

Yes we'll walk with a walk that is measured and slow, And we'll go where the chalk-white arrows go, For the children, they mark, and the children, they know The place where the sidewalk ends.

from Where the Sidewalk Ends, the poems & drawing of Shel Silverstein Page 64, Harper & Row Junior Books, 1974

habies time flies by and before you know it...

May the light always find you on a dreary day. When you need to be home, may you find your way. May you always have courage to take a chance, and never find frogs in your under pants.

Well, maybe not the last line, but do remember this: the choices you make will reflect the person you are. Hove you with all my heart. Mom

When you were two, our worries were few.

We wanted your future to be bright,

As you've grown you've seen the light.

Now sometimes we worry more although we're not sure what for.

You've accomplished so much with academics, performances and such. The foundation you've built is great,

To see what the future holds for you, we can hardly wait.

You will always stand out in the crowd--

Instead of worries, we'll always just be proud. Love, Mom and Dad

Dear Christopher,

These last eighteen years have flown by so very fast. Graduation is a benchmark to reflect upon your past.

Breaking boards in taekwondo, and records in swim meets. To us, parents on the sidelines, watching these were all treats! Baseball, basketball, and golf have occupied each great year, helping to prepare you for the game of life for which you're near.

You have a sense of humor and a great zest for life, too. Good luck, we love you. And guess what? No more curfew!

Love, Mom, Dad & Nick

Ready or not world, here I come!

Determination, devotion, love, humor, beauty, strength...these are only a few of the things that you bring with you as you go out into the world. Remember that the world gives back precious few, "perfect days," but those are the ones to hold in your heart. Know that you only get back from life what you put in. Most of all, remember that whether we're here beside you or watching from above, we love you and that we're so proud of you.

Sarah and Nick Roberts

Side by side you both started.
Soon your paths will be parted.
Separate roads you both choose to go.
By leaps and bounds continue to grow!
We will always love you both so much.
Never, ever lose that magic touch!
Love, Mom and Dad

Adam Bernadino

Now as the years have gone by, I now look at the young man you've grown into. No more worries of getting you through school. You have accomplished this with a guiding hand. I'm so proud of you, Adam, not only for this achievement, but for all that you are and all that you will become.

I trust you'll make good choices in life, but never forget we will always be there for you. One other thing, remember the road of life is long with nunerous obstacles along the way. Approach them with caution and your destination will be right around the corner within a safe grasp.

We love you, Mom, Dad, Erik, Kori

Amber Engstrom

Amber Jo, You did it!

You're graduating!! You are such a blessing and I am honored to have been given the privilege of being your Mom. While writing this, memories flood my mind as I go back to when I met you for the very first time. As I move through each stage of your life I struggle to think of exactly what I wish for you today.

Would it be...Wealth? No, not material wealth. Fame? No. Success? Yes, but that's hard to define. I wish you.sunshine and some rain. I wish you growth...And focus in your life, a vision...and finally, the ability to feel for people. With your desire to become a Doctor, you know you will see those who are sick but during your life, take time to help those who are hurt, or lonely or left out.

As you face life's shifts and changes, I wish that you keep God first in your life, so, "...that out of His glorious riches He may strengthen you with power through His Spirit in your inner being, so that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith."

Ephesians 3:16-17a

Alan:

You have gone from our little man to a wonderful young man! We are so proud of you! You have always been the easy going one in the family, with a little sarcasm to go along! Your preschool teacher once told us that you always had a snide comment to make about whatever she would say to you. In all these years, you have never changed, although you've learned to be a little more discreet about it! We just can't express how much you mean to us! You are honest, caring, responsible, and everything we could ever. Love, Mom & Dad

The opportunity to serve as Principal of Lincoln High School and be associated with the Class of 2004 is an honor. Generations of Lincoln graduates now live througout lowa and the United States and in many foreign countries. Your senior year started August 21, 2003, with 409 seniors out of a total enrollment of 2,251. As with every class before you, it is the many positive achievements in academics, music, mock trial, drama, speech/debate, dance, art, student government, clubs, and athletics that define what best represents your educational experiences at Lincoln High School. Winter brings a whole new idea of how parking at Lincoln High school works. Huge snow mounds take away the limited number of spaces, ice and snow cover the lines and of course much time is spent at the end of the day scraping off all of that snow. On this typical winter day in Lincoln's lots, we found numerous cars parking over the lines-an annoyance to everyone, cars being blocked in, cars who decided they didn't care about the snow mounds, and parked on top of them, and of course, some cars that had inches of snow to brush off before they could drive home.

SHARK DISECTION

Mr. Ace Hendricks has been the zoology teacher here at Lincoln and his now hanging up his safety goggels and apron. He will be leaving us next year but his motivation will stay with us as many more students became experts at zoology. In his class, students learned a lot of useful information about creatures that crawl on the earth. After fully disecting every mammal, they would have tests on them with their partners and move onto the next victim of the knife. Zoology is definately a course recommended by students here at Lincoln.

The Book:

The 2003-2004 yearbook was produced in room 28--the dungeon.

The Railsplitter is 272 pages in length printed on snow white 80 pound glossy stock. The base ink is black with 16 pages in four color in addition to a four color tip-in.

The cover is a lithograph with photos rendered in color pencil through Photoshop.

The binding is sewn.

The photos were shot with the Olympus C-4040 Zoom. 4.1 megapixels and the Olympus C-5050 Zoom, 5.0 mega pixels digital cameras. Some photos were donated by students and scanned.

We used Josten's Yeartech software program along with Pagemaker 6.5 and Photoshop 5.0 to create this book.
